DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's cancellation of claims 1-10 and the addition of new claims 11-16, in the paper of 1/20/2004, is acknowledged. Claims 11-16 are at issue and are present for examination.

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609 A(1) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper."

Applicants filing of information disclosure statement filed 1/20/2004, is acknowledged. Those references considered have been initialed.

Claim Objections

Claim 11 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 11, drawn to a method of killing or inhibiting the growth of a bacteria, recites a)-d) as modifications of the chromosome of the provided Bacillus strain. Part d) recites "a second reporter...thereof in the prespore," followed by "and inducing said Bacillus strain to divide...". It appears that the above second recitation, "and inducing said Bacillus strain to divide..." is not a modification of the Bacillus chromosome and should not be included with part d).

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 11-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 11-16 are indefinite in that they are unclear in that they do not comprise a step in which a person following the method determines that the compound in question inhibits SpoOJ, such as following step d) in claim 11.

Claims 14 is indefinite in that they are confusing in that they are drawn to the method of claim 11 and the agent of claim 18, respectively, in which the expression of the first and/or second reporter gene(s) are/is observed by monitoring the levels of their expression products. It is unclear what other means of "observing expression of the first and/or second reporter gene" there are, that do not involve monitoring the levels of their expression products. Thus it is unclear how claim 14 further limits claim 11, from which it depends, and it is thus a duplicate of claim 11.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 11-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claims 11-16 are directed to all possible methods of killing or inhibiting the growth of bacteria using any agent determined by the method of claim 11.. The specification, however, merely provides a method of determining whether an agent inhibits SpoOJ function but does not provide any description of said agent to be used by the claimed methods. There is no disclosure of any structure including any physical and/or chemical properties of any agent to be used by the claimed methods. There is no particular structure to function/activity relationship of even a single species of agents that are used in the claimed methods or any information beyond the functional characteristic that the claimed agent inhibits SpoOJ function in Bacillus species. Given this lack of additional representative species as encompassed by the claims, Applicants have failed to sufficiently describe the claimed invention, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms that a skilled artisan would recognize Applicants were in possession of the claimed invention.

Applicant is referred to the revised guidelines concerning compliance with the written description requirement of U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, published in the Official Gazette and also available at www.uspto.gov.
